

Here comes Chris!

クリスさん、ようこそ！

Usually in Obihiro, new arrivals to our office happen in either April or August. This year this process has been a little delayed because of the COVID-19 Pandemic. However, thanks to the recent changes to immigration control in Japan, we're delighted to welcome our newest CIR to Obihiro, Christopher Andrade from the USA!

Obihiro Pioneer: Hello Chris! It's great that you've finally managed to make it to Obihiro! Would you mind telling us a little about yourself to get started?

Chris: Happy to finally be here in Obihiro after a long and quite strange journey! I'm Chris and I come from the United States. Specifically, I'm from New Haven, Connecticut, home of Yale University, birthplace of the hamburger, and home to America's #1 pizza. It's about an hour drive from New York City. In fact, I grew up there and moved to Connecticut when I was 12 years old! However, my family is all from Mexico, so I'm Mexican American and identify equally with Mexican and American culture. Spanish was my first language since my mother didn't speak English!

I have tons of hobbies, but some of my favorite activities including playing video games, listening to and making music (I was a DJ for a couple of years), and of course, learning languages! I speak English and Spanish natively, and I have studied Japanese, Chinese, German, and Italian! I also enjoy sports. I played soccer and did archery throughout my childhood and learned how to ski and practiced iaido while in Japan.

Christopher Andrade,
Obihiro City's newest CIR

Obihiro Pioneer: Wow, you've got so many talents! Amazing! So I understand that this isn't your first time in Japan? What brings you to Japan this time around?

Chris: That's correct. I was an assistant English teacher in Ueda City in Nagano prefecture for 3 years. If you like samurai culture, you might know it as the hometown of the Sanada clan! This time, I'm here as Obihiro's next coordinator of international relations for the US. Obihiro has two sister cities in the US (Seward, Alaska and Madison, Wisconsin), so I'm here to help with international exchange and facilitation the lives of Obihiro's citizens, hoping to improve my Japanese and experience new things along the way! Also, I have been on a mission to learn the shamisen for years. I wasn't able to when I lived in Nagano, so I won't miss my chance while I'm here! Kyūdō is another thing I'd like to learn, since I love archery and it looks so fun!

Obihiro Pioneer: We're all looking forward to working with you here in the Tourism and Goodwill Exchange Section! On a slightly different topic, do you have anything you'd like to do while here in Obihiro?

Chris: I'm excited to experience Obihiro's food culture. Everywhere you go in Japan, you'll see Tokachi milk, cheese, vegetables, all sorts of things that come from here. I also understand that there are many delicious dishes that can be found here, so I want to take it all in! I also want to get back into skiing and ride the famous Hokkaido slopes.

Obihiro Pioneer: Final question, have you any particular goals that you'd like to achieve during your time here as a CIR?

Chris: My biggest goal is to be a good ambassador for my country. I want to teach others about the US, help correct stereotypes, and help create cultural bridges and foster intercultural understanding. I hope to work my hardest to improve not only sister-city relations, but also motivate others to want to learn more about foreign cultures. I'm excited to be here and if you see me around Obihiro, please don't be afraid to say hello!

We'd like to thank Christopher for granting us the time for this interview during this busy period. Christopher will be joining the Obihiro Pioneer staff, so look forward to articles by him in coming issues!
